

One of our Brigader Girl's (2nd Bathgate Girls' Brigade), Abbie, will be visiting Malawi with a group of students and staff from Armadale Academy at the end of June for 10 days. During their visit, they will be working in Khaya Primary School in Mulanje, helping to teach English and other curricular areas to the students, as well as helping out with some school and community projects.

Did you know?

Many girls and women in countries like Malawi, are forced to skip or leave school or work because they don't have the appropriate personal care products, including underwear.

The Brigader Girls' at 2nd Bathgate GB are supporting Abbie through their Spiritual and Educational badge work this session. They have created a 'Girls Helping Girls' initiative and would like to collect brand new pants for girls and women.

- We don't believe that any girl or woman should not be able to attend school or work due to a lack of underwear.
- We would like to support their mission of collecting brand new pants for girls and women, for them to take on their trip to Malawi.
  - We are looking for donations of brand new pants ranging from sizes: Age 3-4 (girls) to size 14/16 (womens)
  - If this is something that you would like to support, please hand in any donations.

This is a picture of some of the girls at Khaya Primary School, Mulanje, receiving their brand new pants.

The girls were so excited to get new underwear and it has a life-changing effect on them!
